XIAOMI

Xiaomi has entered the Indian home segment market with the launch of its first smart Mi Air Purifier 2. Key features include the 360° cylindrical filter which takes in air more efficiently from every direction. Its triple-layer design removes particles larger than 0.3 microns with a high-density EPA filter, while an activated carbon filter removes formaldehyde and bad odour. It connects to the cloud via Wifi, enabled by the Mi Home app. The app transforms the smartphone into a remote to control the air purifier. When in auto mode, the speed of its motor is automatically adjusted according to the air quality — measured using built-in sensors. The app also monitors the filter's lifespan and sends a reminder for replacement.

JAQUAR GROUP

Artize, the luxury brand by the Jaquar Group has launched Tailwater which has been conceptualized and designed by the London-based product design consultancy Danelon Meroni, led by Claudia Danelon. Inspired by nature and the elegant fluid lines of contemporary architecture, Tailwater is a striking and iconic piece of bathroom fitting. The product is inspired by the abstract image of a bird, perched on the edge of a pool. The lever and spout are united in a single, friendly form, which is simple and enjoyable to use. The tail acts as a mixer lever, which moves smoothly backwards and to the left and right. When tilted backwards, the tap's form is transformed into a graceful silver arc, evocative of a mermaid reclining on the shore. Tailwater is crafted in brass and is available in chrome, copper, bronze, matte black and matte white finishes.
