For most of us, our home is a place to live in and relax, unwind, and find peace with our family. The best part about a home is that one feels great stepping out but feels even better when they come back. It is an incomparable feeling to step into your comfort zone in a place you proudly call home.

Today, the relevance of exterior décor is just as important as the interior décor. People now prefer to revamp their homes with a modern outlook, staying tuned to the latest trends. Today, modern homes are built with clean lines, expansive windows, subtle colour tones, and undeniable sleekness that have increasingly become households' first choice. Gone are the days when houses were all about details in the interior and swanky or dull paints on the outside; it is time to revamp! You can bring the spotlight on your exterior décor with these ideas:

Let doors be your stairway to heaven!

The front doors that lead you to the interior are your stairway to a peaceful environment. We often do not realise the importance of our entry doors from an aesthetic point of view and only consider them for their utilitarian benefit. A designed and thought-out front door subjectifies the people living inside the house. It leaves a lasting impression in the minds of everyone who visits the home for the first time. Thus, it is essential to amplify your front door to make your house attractive and classier at the same time.

Most homes are designed with the front door as the focal point, and the eye is naturally drawn to this feature first. It not only gives your home an instant curb appeal but also projects a sense of security and solidity. A dull and unfinished front door can somehow take away the allure of your home. Today, there are numerous door options available that bring a combination of strength and stability and a flawless finish. These designer doors are known to stand the test of time. The present-day collection offers a wide variety of laminated doors and door sets of your choice, right from a wide palette of colours, laminate options, surfacing, and ironmongery to complement the aesthetics of your ambience. The engineered doors are way less susceptible to termite attack resulting in longer life.

Along with beauty and durability, these doors are also adaptive as they are factory finished, made to fit, and do not require resizing. These doors blend with your aesthetic needs and are durable, unlike traditional doors that require regular maintenance and polishing.

Dark is your new status statement!

If your property does not embark on your status and style statement, you can never be satisfied. Picking an option to highlight your exterior is not as easy as you might think with the limitless design interventions available today, from light and airy Hamptons-style to sleek contemporary looks. One way to narrow down your preferences is to think of the home's inside and then design your exterior.

Laminates in dark wood colour and fine detailing can uplift your house from boring vintage to a modern contemporary household. You can consider a woodgrain design to accentuate your exterior with sophisticated elegance. These façade panels also come with a multitude of excellent features such as energy efficiency, fire retardancy, anti-graffiti properties, chemical, moisture, corrosion resistance, along with unmatched aesthetic appearance to your property.

A home is a place where you find peace at the end of the day, so it is vital to analyse the growing trends and maintain your house's curb appeal by updating it. Along with yourself, we should give our house renovation time to time to keep it intact and esthetically pleasing.
