

How texture and colour of laminates redefine interiors

Panul Mittal
Director - Marketing & Design
Greenlam Industries Ltd.

Home décor conversations are no more limited to how your interiors look. Your surroundings have the potential of influencing your overall mood and define how you feel about specific spaces.

Have you noticed how vibrant colours instantly evoke emotions of energy and liveliness? Or how uncluttered areas allow a room to be airy while letting you breathe? While textures and patterns are two firm and distinctive elements of laminates, these two can instantly turnaround your interiors and give them an exhilarating look with minimal effort.

Here is how you can achieve a confluence of whimsical textures and alluring patterns by introducing them to your space in ways that will leave everyone in awe at the sight of it.

The bohemian craze

The bohemian theme is known as the unconventional and eclectic décor style and is full of vigour and freshness. If you are aiming for a calm and serene setting, go for a neutral palette with a single pop of colour. Using an emerald green or a topaz blue weaves a positive vibe to your room. Incorporate this colour in your furniture like a corner table or an armless sofa chair to provide a stunning appearance to your space. Top-it up with your favourite vintage accents such as silverware or a crystal flower vase to complement this colour scheme.

Bohemian décor would be incomplete without incorporating exciting elements such as abstract patterns to your walls. Opting for natural decorative veneers is the best way to go about upgrading your walls as they are durable and stable. A dynamic zig-zag chevron pattern with close pore texture, adorned in a dual colour will not only enlighten your surroundings but also add a vivacious touch. Lastly, suspend a macramé hanging to welcome natural air and rejuvenation.

Welcome wooden palette

One of the most warming, ironically eco-friendly and timeless materials is wood. Whether you want to achieve a modern look or set a traditional space, the flexible nature of wood makes it the go-to option for everyone. Moreover, workspaces have today become more personalized and design-conscious to ensure maximum productivity and employee happiness. The look and feel of your office space truly affects behaviour, which is why creating an ideal space for your workforce becomes even more crucial.

Nothing imparts comfort and excitement like premium engineered wooden flooring as they offer a wide range which is durable, stylish and easy to maintain. Add extraordinary patterns by incorporating all-natural driftwood and patterns in rich brown hues making your workspace a spectacle. Introduce minimalism with contemporary chairs and a modern table to keep the space uncluttered while allowing it to exhibit class. Speaking of lighting, you can either choose to install glass partitions to allow daylight or opt for ceiling fitted small bulbs to illuminate your interiors. Refurbish your conference and meeting rooms today to invite a cohesive environment that fosters creativity, passion and innovation.

The monochromatic runway

There is no denying the fact that the classic combination of black and white has an eccentric appeal to it. This monochromatic theme is where boldness and simplicity converge to create a magical abode. Start with placing wood pattern laminate furniture to add an element of earthy colour. The slight texture with a woodgrain design evokes tranquillity and soothes your senses. Add some sparkle to your interiors with rose gold metal or copper accents to add a regal hint which enhances with velvet cushions.

When it comes to walls and your floors, the space must speak the language of monotones. With this theme, high-pressure laminates give a beautiful glossy flamboyance with a magnificent marble pattern. While you will be instantly filled with confidence, this laminate will kindle your true expressions of cheer and delight. If you feel like adding a pop of colour, the vibrant yet subtle shade of coral when injected in a floor rug or table flower vase will create an enchanting glance. Make your space exude panache by placing a floor lamp in metallic accents. The overlook will build a vibrant ambience and a lively mood.

Refurbishing your home makes the process all the more adventurous when you know how different textures, patterns and colours affect your senses.