Spring season is the time of year when you welcome warm sunny mornings and refreshing, breezy air. During this beautiful season, the undeniable enchantment of blooming flowers, chirping birds and a fresh wind instantly uplifts your mood. Amidst such an environment, as soon as you open your eyes, you want to have those breath-taking hues to add that extra oomph to your space.

It surely feels heavenly to be surrounded by stimulating colours, inspired by a touch of nature.

Bask in that yellow glow

What could be better than adding the spectacular hues of yellow to your home? Its brightness is symbolic of welcoming a new ray of hope and delight. Carve out a pleasant nook for yourself to refresh and recharge during weekends. This bold pop of colour amps up your otherwise everyday décor and adds a plush statement to your ambience. Natural light elevates the beauty of this shade as it makes your home radiate vibrancy and enthusiasm.

When it comes to renewing your walls, natural decorative veneers have paved their way with their elegance and durability. Adorn your walls with Houdini Larch veneer from Decowood Veneers to unfold an irresistible charm in your space. Its dark brown tone gives life to the rest of the décor. Pair a wooden table or a bench with throw pillows in the inky black shade to have a contrasting combination. Make a quirky statement with bohemian accents like small mirror frames or a wooden clock to complete the look. It is time to take out your favourite mason jars, bake a quick lemon pie and let your interiors rejuvenate you.

Thematic textures

There are endless ways of introducing textures into space. They add visual interest to interiors and seamlessly balance with colours. Opting for wooden laminates is a brilliant way to bring some taste in your décor. For instance, this Argent Elm from Greenlam Laminates in a grey hue with a subtle brown tint amplifies the vogue quotient. The woodgrain texture further elevates the look of your interiors. Placing a statement chair in matte black will infuse timeless finesse to the entire look.

As far as your colour palette is concerned for the spring season, go beyond just single or double tones. This year replicate the glorious transition of dark tones into light tones with a classic ombre effect. Go for classy jewel tones such as emerald green, deep blues and infuse them in bedsheets, sofa or windows. You will be stunned with the amount of richness and luxury it can inject to your room.

Conceal with neutrals

If you prefer cleaner spaces or are inclined towards minimalism, opt for concealed cabinets for your kitchen. Here, all your kettles, chopping board, even taps and sinks are hidden behind closed cabinets. This set-up effortlessly weaves harmony and provides a clean and sophisticated look. When concealed with neutral shades, your space becomes calm and relaxing. Go for creamy whites or mauve neutral shades that blend smoothly with this season's natural sunlight marking new beginnings. Accentuate your theme with ceramic plants or flower vase and let the serenity flow through your space.

Further, embrace the beauty of your white cabinetry by experimenting with engineered wood. Specifically, engineered wood floors have become a one-stop solution for those looking to give their home a chic personality. Enliven your space with this Oak Winter wooden floor from Mikasa Real Wood Floors which comes in alluring brushed texture with a light brown tone. The unique shade further complements the neutral colour scheme. As you go about creating a minimalistic kitchen, opt for a small dining table with a glass surface with white armless chairs. This keeps your space uncluttered and makes up for a perfect place to have your Sunday brunches with your loved ones.

Spring season is an opportunity for you to play with colours, patterns, textures and whatnot. It is your chance to design the oasis of your dreams that will stimulate the feelings of euphoria and joy.
