Home is a place where we seek comfort, safety, and a sense of belonging. Whether it's a small apartment or a grand estate, our safe spaces are an extension of ourselves and our personalities. They serve as a sanctuary from the outside world, a space where we can express our creativity and individuality. When it comes to making a great first impression, your home's exterior plays a crucial role. Whether it's your front yard, back patio, or balcony, the exterior wall panels of your home can create a welcoming atmosphere that ultimately sets the tone for your visitors. One of the prominent reasons behind the popularity of wall panels is that they add personality to a building's exteriors. You can use exterior wall panels to hide exposed wiring and construction flaws or as an accent feature to entirely transform a building's overall aesthetics.

To enhance your exterior spaces and make a trendy first impression, you may want to consider using NewMika FX. This innovative material is an excellent choice for a variety of exterior projects, from creating stylish fences and gates to adding unique accents to your home's exterior walls.

What is NewMika FX?

Bring the spotlight on!

Product – Afro Marbella from NewMika FX collection

Home decor perception has shifted toward premium and niche product offerings as trends shift. People are now gravitating toward the impression of luxuries to achieve the perfect balance of comfort and elegance. We recommend Afro Marbella from the NewMika FX collection of Greenlam Industries, which is a great choice for ravishing exteriors.

This design has a bold and modern look combined with the beauty of magnificent marble. Apart from the elegance the façade panels come with a multitude of excellent features such as UV resistance, fire retardancy, anti-graffiti properties, chemical, moisture, and corrosion resistance, along with an unmatched aesthetic appearance that makes them a statement piece for commercial and residential facades.

For your vintage look!

Product – Redo Walnut from NewMika FX collection

Creating an appealing exterior appearance is just as important as how your interiors define your style statement. Vintage is one such factor that evokes nostalgia in people of all ages. To give your home's exterior that specific style, we suggest considering the unique Redo Walnut from the NewMika FX collection, which ultimately induces an ideal, rural life feel adapted to modern living and will automatically beautify the exterior of any of your spaces.

These exteriors also act as a highlighter for contemporary residential facades that need a rustic touch on elements such as pergola & gates. With the antique look, these wood pattern compact panels equipped with a myriad of features such as, anti-graffiti properties, anti-fire resistance and specifically anti-termite properties to protect your facades from termites. A home is ultimately a place where you can unwind at the end of the day, so it is critical to keep up with the latest trends and update your home's curb appeal
